

LGBTQ+ people still face prejudice and discrimination in their daily lives

This may partly explain why we found that LGBTQ+ youth tended to report lower life satisfaction

Life satisfaction

University

However, we also found that LGBTQ+ youth who were at university reported slightly better life satisfaction than those who were not at university

Life satisfaction

This could be because universities are viewed as more liberal spaces with less prejudice and discrimination, so LGBTQ+ people can just be themselves

